A Word From The Coach

Waiting

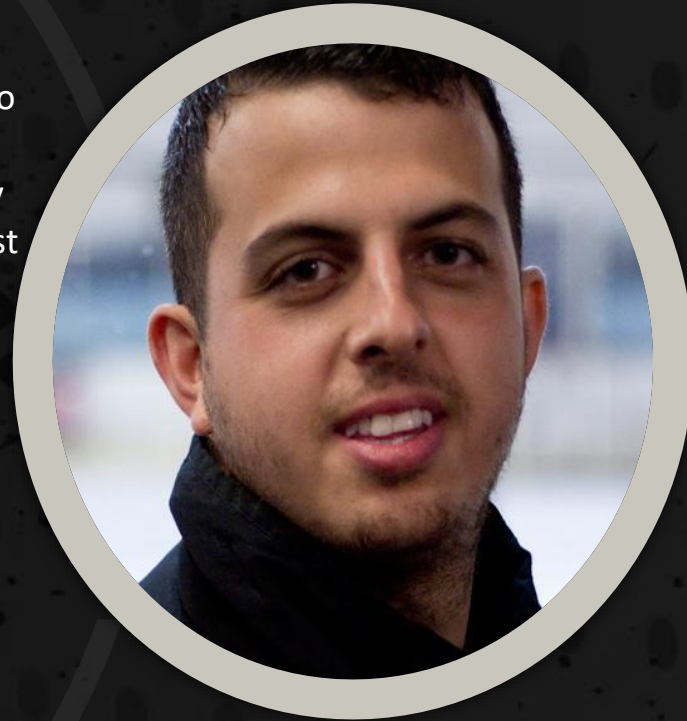

Good evening everyone and welcome to the Solent Arena for our second encounter with the Oxford City Stars! I trust their players, management and supporters had a safe trip.

Last weekend saw us take on Chelmsford in a repeat of our last home fixture. After a defeat at home, we were eager to make amends, initially with our performance and then with our result. We took an early lead and played well for the first period. However, a second period push back from Chelmsford saw us needing to a goal in the third. Unfortunately we were unable to score and ended in a 5-2 defeat. It was a frustrating day as I felt we played well in spells, but are just lacking in key moments to take hold of the games.

Looking ahead to tonight, the boys know it's a crucial fixture against the Stars, who themselves will be looking for the points. We will be working our systems this week as well as our coverage to ensure we are ready for the game and are eager to get back to our winning ways!

It's Not All About Us

Despite what seems to be a disappointing start to the season for the Stars, they have continued to improve as the season goes on. Though they have only won one game, that one game was against last season's champions, Streatham, showing both their ability and their resilience. With some key signings over the summer, it would appear that Oxford have been finding their feet and they will now be keen to start improving their position in the league. Having shown their ability to win against a strong team, they will now want to build momentum to take them forward for the rest of the season.

The team that has been assembled over the summer has given them depth from which to draw on. Lawday, leading the team with 4 goals this season, will be one to watch, particularly if supported by Hullaby. Defensively, their new signing Will Harding will be looking at making an impact. Between the poles, both Miller and Cech have shown their talents and either could be instrumental in their game plan.

Captains Corner

A very warm welcome to both the home and away supporters!

Following on from the weekend, I hate to say we weren't able to bring home the two points against a very fast and well drilled Chieftains. It really does seem for the first time in a while that every team in this league is capable of beating each other, which I think is only a good thing!

We know what we need to work on and we will be implementing that this week at training. Tonight we play Oxford again, who are a team who come ready to play, and I can assure you, you will be in for end-to-end action!

Hopefully you'll be reading this at the end of the game with a positive result as we want to give you fans what you deserve!

A big thank you goes up to those who travelled up to Chelmsford as I can assure you, it didn't go unnoticed!

I'll see you out there!
